TALKIN' ABOUT GOIN' TO THE FAIR.

BY IMMORTAL NO. 2.

I think we'll go to the falr, Jane; and see all the tancy things, And look at all the 'hoss rac'n', and take a ride lister. in the swings.

I never was at one before; and I'm gettln' pretty old.
And all the money I've spent for pleasure, is mighty easy told.

All the farmers wives bring in things—butter, cheese and such,
But the prevalums they get for their trouble, is'nt very mach.

I was thinkin' 'bout our cow, Jane, you know she's pretty fine. And blooded Jersey stock, is what takes 'em every time.

Well, I'll hitch up the car', Jane, and drive on over to town,
And swap 'em a bushel of wheat, to buy you a callco gown.

And you can tend to the balkln an have every thing ready done up. to start at sun up.

And after every thing's ready, and you have any time to space.
You can just run over to mother't and tell 'em-we're goin' to the fair.

I'm goln' to take the cart, and there'll be foom for mother to go.
And I'd buy a family ticket, and it will cost ner nothin, you know.

I believe I'll buy me a clat, dure, for this is ge'tin' all torn, And it would'nt hart, it I had a hat too, for this is badly wora.

And after I'm done a tradit and have any change to space, I'll buy you a piece of ribbon, to tie in your old

You and I made this farm, Jane, by working early and late, And it won't be long till we're under the sod, it we carry on at this rate. that we can,

For we don't need to work any more, and can live on the rent of the land. But If I stand and talk much longer, the day will slip away. And I'll have to put off golo' to town, and walt for another day.

But do you know now-a-days, people are gettin' awful smart, Aud every one will be laughin', to see us come to the lalr in the cart.

But I'm not ashamed of anything I've earned by the sweat of my brow, And if they try to make game of me, there'll be a little row.

Do Not Dust, But Wipe!

Who would believe it? The dusterthat peaceful emblem of domestic toilmay, under certain circumstances, become more dangerous to handle than a six-shooter. We are in dead earnest. An eminent scientist declares it to be a fact. Do you know just what you are doing when you brush away dust? You disseminate in the air, and consequently introduce into your own interior, into your tissues and respirtory organs, all sorts of eggs, sporas, epidemic germs, and murderous vibriones which dust contains. One movement with a feather duster may be enough to poison both you and your neighbors—to inoculate you all with typhus, varioloid, or cholera-strange as it may appear. Instead of a feather duster take a cloth; wipe away the dust, instead of stirring it up. In short, wipe-never dust!-Le Vol-

Dog or Snuff.

A Chicago woman traveling in the South made a good deal of fun of some of the Southern women who dip snuff, but when a party of them on a car saw the Chicago girl kiss a poodle dog on the nose, and they all turned pale and put their heads out of the windows for fresh G. W. GEISEL, wither a Northern girl began to reflect that perhaps spuff was nearly as clean as the average dog's nose. Any way, wither a Northern or Southern man, if ie wanted to kiss a woman; would take he snuff twice before he would take second-hand dog once.—Peck's Sun.

Why the Rev. Mr. Mulkittle Laughed. Aikansaw Traveler.

"Is this the Rev. Mr. Mulkittle?" said a kind of out of reason man, entering the library of a well known Little Rock min-

"Yes sir; have a seat."

"I have cailed to transact a piece of iusiness which to the world may seem ridiculous, but which, viewed from a spiritual eminence, is of importance."
"What is it?"

"I want you to love me." "Love you?" gasped the good man, regarding the petitioner and inwardly vowing that he had never before met a more repulsive human being.

"Yes, sir, I want you to love me," and he sat down and closed his eyes as though re intendeded to await the announcement of the decision. "The command is to love one another. I confess I love you," and opening his eyes he leered at the preach-

"Well, sir," said the minister, "your demand after all is simple. I suppose that you have been lost for many years, and have just tasted grace, and that you especially want the love of ministers. Yes, I love you."

"Thank you. Now, when we love any one we are willing to help him. Gimme a dollar, sir; gimme a dollar. Out of the love you bear me, gimme the dollar."

The minister arose, took down a box and handed the visitor a doll ir. "Good by. I hope you will always love me," and the lover was gone.

"How did you make it?" asked a rough looking man, when they reached a street corner not far away.

"Fine. Never met but one preacher that got away with me, and he was an old Baptist that insisted upon dacking me into the river before he could love me. And so we'll go to the lair, and have all the fun Preachers like something odd. The old style of striking 'em is repealed."

"Let me see the money." "Here she is; a new dollar. Let's go and take something."

"I guess not. The thing is counter-

It was a vile imitation, and the two thieves looked at each other in silence. The minister poked his head over the fence and laughed. The dellar had come to him in a contribution box.

The Rod.

My master whipped me very well; without that, sir, I should have done nothing. I would rather have the rod to be general terror to all, to make them learn, than to tell a child if you do thus or thus you will be more esteemed than your brothers or sisters. The rod produces an effect which terminates in itself. A child is afraid of being whipped, and gets his task, and there's an end on't. Whereas, by exciting emulaiion and comparisons of superiority, you lay the foundations of lasting mischief. You make brothers and sisters hate each other. - Samuel Johnson.

ICEBERGS are often of enormous size, measuring miles in area and many hundred feet in thickness. Hayes saw one reaching an altitude of 315 feet above the sea, and most of the Arctic explorers have encountered bergs of 200 feet or more in height. Pyer has estimated that in an iceberg 200 feet above the water a total height of 600 or 800 feet may, as a rule, be inferred. An exception to this rule must be the bergs Captain Ross saw aground in 1,500 feet of water. A mass of ice floating in the Southern Ocean is reported by Captain d'Urville to have been thirteen miles long with vertical walls 100 feet high.

"ONLY A MILLINER" is the title of an article in the New York Sun. Wonder why she didn't take in clock and dressmaking, too. That's where the money comes in.

Exercises and Regular Business of the Annual Conference.

Interesting Personal Notes.

From our Special Correspondent. THURSDAY.

The morning prayer meeting was led by Prof. Reed. After a short season of prayer the meeting was changed into a social one. These ministers seem to be consecrated to the great work to which they have devoted their lives.

After these exercises the regular business of the conference was resumed. The subjects of the church extension and education received due attention. The church which this body represents is now actively moving in all that pertains to the welfare of

Dr. T. B. McFerrin addressed the conference on the interests of the publishing house. This great enterprise is succeeding

Dr. G. S. Savage, agent of the American Bible Society, is here.

The report of this great institution will as at first stated. well repay a careful present. The demand for the holy scripture constantly increases, and as light from this source beams upon any people so does moral darkness disappear.

Messrs. Hanson Kennedy and Sam K. Veach, committee on reception have won universal praise for the courteous manner in which they attended to the wants of all. They only need 40 or 50 mere preachers to meet the demand for guests.

The Bishop is holding regular sessions with his cabinet. Of course the preachers are passing under review. Many will soon hear something drop, and of whom we may be which.

The presiding elder of the Maysville district is at his post and is faithfully discharging his duties. The people may rest assured that he will seek to do the best that is possible to be done in their behalf.

Your correspondent and Rev. G. C. Kelly are elegantly entertained at the home of W. O. Sanders. We have ever Wall street. been fortunate in this respect at Methodist conferences, but never more so than at present.

More About Sanctification.

MAYSVILLE, KY., Sept. 6, 1882. ED. DAILY EVENING BULLETIN: -permit me to say to "Unsanctified," that by a careful reading of Psi. 14, that he will find that David did not include himself in saying "There is none that doeth good, no, not one." But the fools, who say in their heart there is no God, verse 1—and workers of iniquity who "eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not upon the Lord," verse 4. But in yerse 5 the Psalmist says, "That God is in the generation of the righteous." The true interpretation of the Psalm quoted from, is that God in vain looks among those who in their heart deny his existence for righteousness or goodness, but does find a generation of righteous persons among his people who believe in Him. And in Rom. 3:10, St. Paul makes the quotation from this Psalm to show that those (Rom. 1:2, 1) who had known God and had become vain in their imagination, and whose foolish heart was darkened were (Rom. 3:10) not righteous, no, not one. The apostle and Psalmist each speak of the same class of persons-but neither of them includes those who are God's accepted people; they are those who are included between yerses 10 and 18 of Rom. chap. 3. (Read these verses.) Now as to the Apostle Paul personally, I think "Uusanctified" misses the mark utterly. St. Paul describes man in this epistle in three different conditions. First, in his natural, and acquired corruption of heart and life. Second, in his awakened state, realizing his sin, corruption and danger, not able to find relief from inbred sin and acquired guilt, doing what he saw was wrong by an irrepressible force within him, and not doing what he saw was right, because of a want of power. St. Paul here is simply setting forth in the first person such a condition. Third; he then brings up the condition of one who has passed from that state into sanctification. Chap. 8:14. "There is therefore now, no condemnation to them who are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit. For the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death. For what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh. God sending his own son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin condemned sin in the flesh, that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit." Now I ask, what is the "righteousness of the law?" Certainly, just what I said in my last, to love God with all the heart, and to alive to God at the same time, and as he son county people. says crucified to the world? in Gall. 6:14. The fact is unsanctified people have ation of their yet inward unholiness in this ficticious representation of St Paul's sinfulness. It is a slander on this holy of Christ in either the first or second condition described, but in the third. As to Christ being the holy one, of Israel and holy one of God. If his holiness excludes 5 p. m. others from being holy, then it is wrong to say the angels are holy. He also says scriptrually The Holy Ghost. The Christis called and the other evening tavored his friend holiness is possible to men. So of the gem. Spriggins thought he would say find out that these descriptions of Christ tivated," And Higgins didn't take it the The committee to consult with the fire and the Spirit are used in reference to right way at all, and they don't speak now. their relation to man as a sinner to whom they come to make him holy. But is holiness necessarily an immortal state; then why did not holy angels who fell contin-Building permits were granted as fol- uel in it, and why not Adam, for he was made in the image of God, which St. Paul says consisted in righteousness and true holiness. But from this Adam fell, unsanctified attributed to the pure? old man of Ephsus whose hair was whitened by so many years of loving service, language he only quoted from other intelligences, instead of using it himself. But we believe that God A complaint about a moonlight fete is the only being who is holy in Himself.

The holiness of all finite beings is derived from Him. Christians derive their holiness through christ and the Holy Spirit.

It is said that God only has immortality, yet we all believe in our own immortality, God is the living God, yet in Him we live. Now why should a man be taken to heaven as soon as holy? does not this world need holy men and women, is not a pure man a better representative of laid claim to sanctification or not, neither does Unsanctified.

They doubtless were holy before translation, else they could not have been received into a holy heaven. Now as to the idea that death is to finish the work of our purification, it seems to me, that would be giving death the power that the gospel of Christ has i. e., to purify. I fear the old idea that matter is inherently evil, still clings to our unsanctified brother. There can be no moral evil in that which cannot think, and will and have affections. The body does not do either of these. not in the physical. Where the soul is im- boats of the line for pure, the body is its instrument. When the soul is made pure by the application of the blood of Christ by the Holy Spirit, the body becomes its instrument for holy and righteous acts. I am sorry that "Unsanctified" is hopeless of being sanctified board or to in this life, for I have no hope of that work being done for him after this life and therefore he will never be fit for heaven. soif I don't believe in either a first or second class purgatory. I don't find in scripture any warrant for the belief that death has anything to do in relieving the soul from sin. A man sanctified before death remains so after death, and one unsanctified before death remains so after death. I The apostle John was here combat- dress ing the notion of a sect that believed and taught that when a man became christian that whatever he might do he was necessarily sinless, that sin by him was not sin. Therefore though they went to great excess they claimed they were still in a state of justification. Hence he says if we say we have no sin the truth is not in us, that is, if we make our religion a cloak to cover our sins, the truth is not in us. Now he says of these people, chapter 2, 19. They went out from us because they were not of us. But to his brethren he says: I write to you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one. Surely if they had overcome the wicked one they were holy, sanctified. I have pursued this subject much further than I intended, and here I shall stop and decline any further notice of the difficulties of "Unsanctified," referring to a small book on the subject written by Rev. G. D. Watson, D. D., of Newport, Ky., and sent postpaid by the author for 25 cents.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spayin Curé' has been very satisfactory, indeed. Three or form years are I were tory indeed. Three or four years ago I pro-cured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lumeness caused by a spavln. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he be-came better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendell's Spavin Cure and With less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours.

P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendail's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but If It does for all what it has done for me its will be very great.

Respectfully yours, Chas. E. Parker.
